THE MAPLE TRAIL

FOREWORD

In order that the memories of the days spent at Campbellsville College may present lingering thoughts to beckon us on to higher and nobler things and that the good name and prestige of our Alma Mater may be kept in our minds, hearts, and lives, and that a warmth of heart and genuine interest will prevail; we, the Class of '42 give you this volume of "The Maple Trail".

PRESIDENT W. F. JONES

Tall, broad shouldered, and well poised our president has the ability to inspire and arouse enthusiasm in those with whom he comes in contact.

His warm smile and the sympathetic help he has given in solving the problems of young people has endeared him alike to both faculty and student body.

HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE

HISTORY

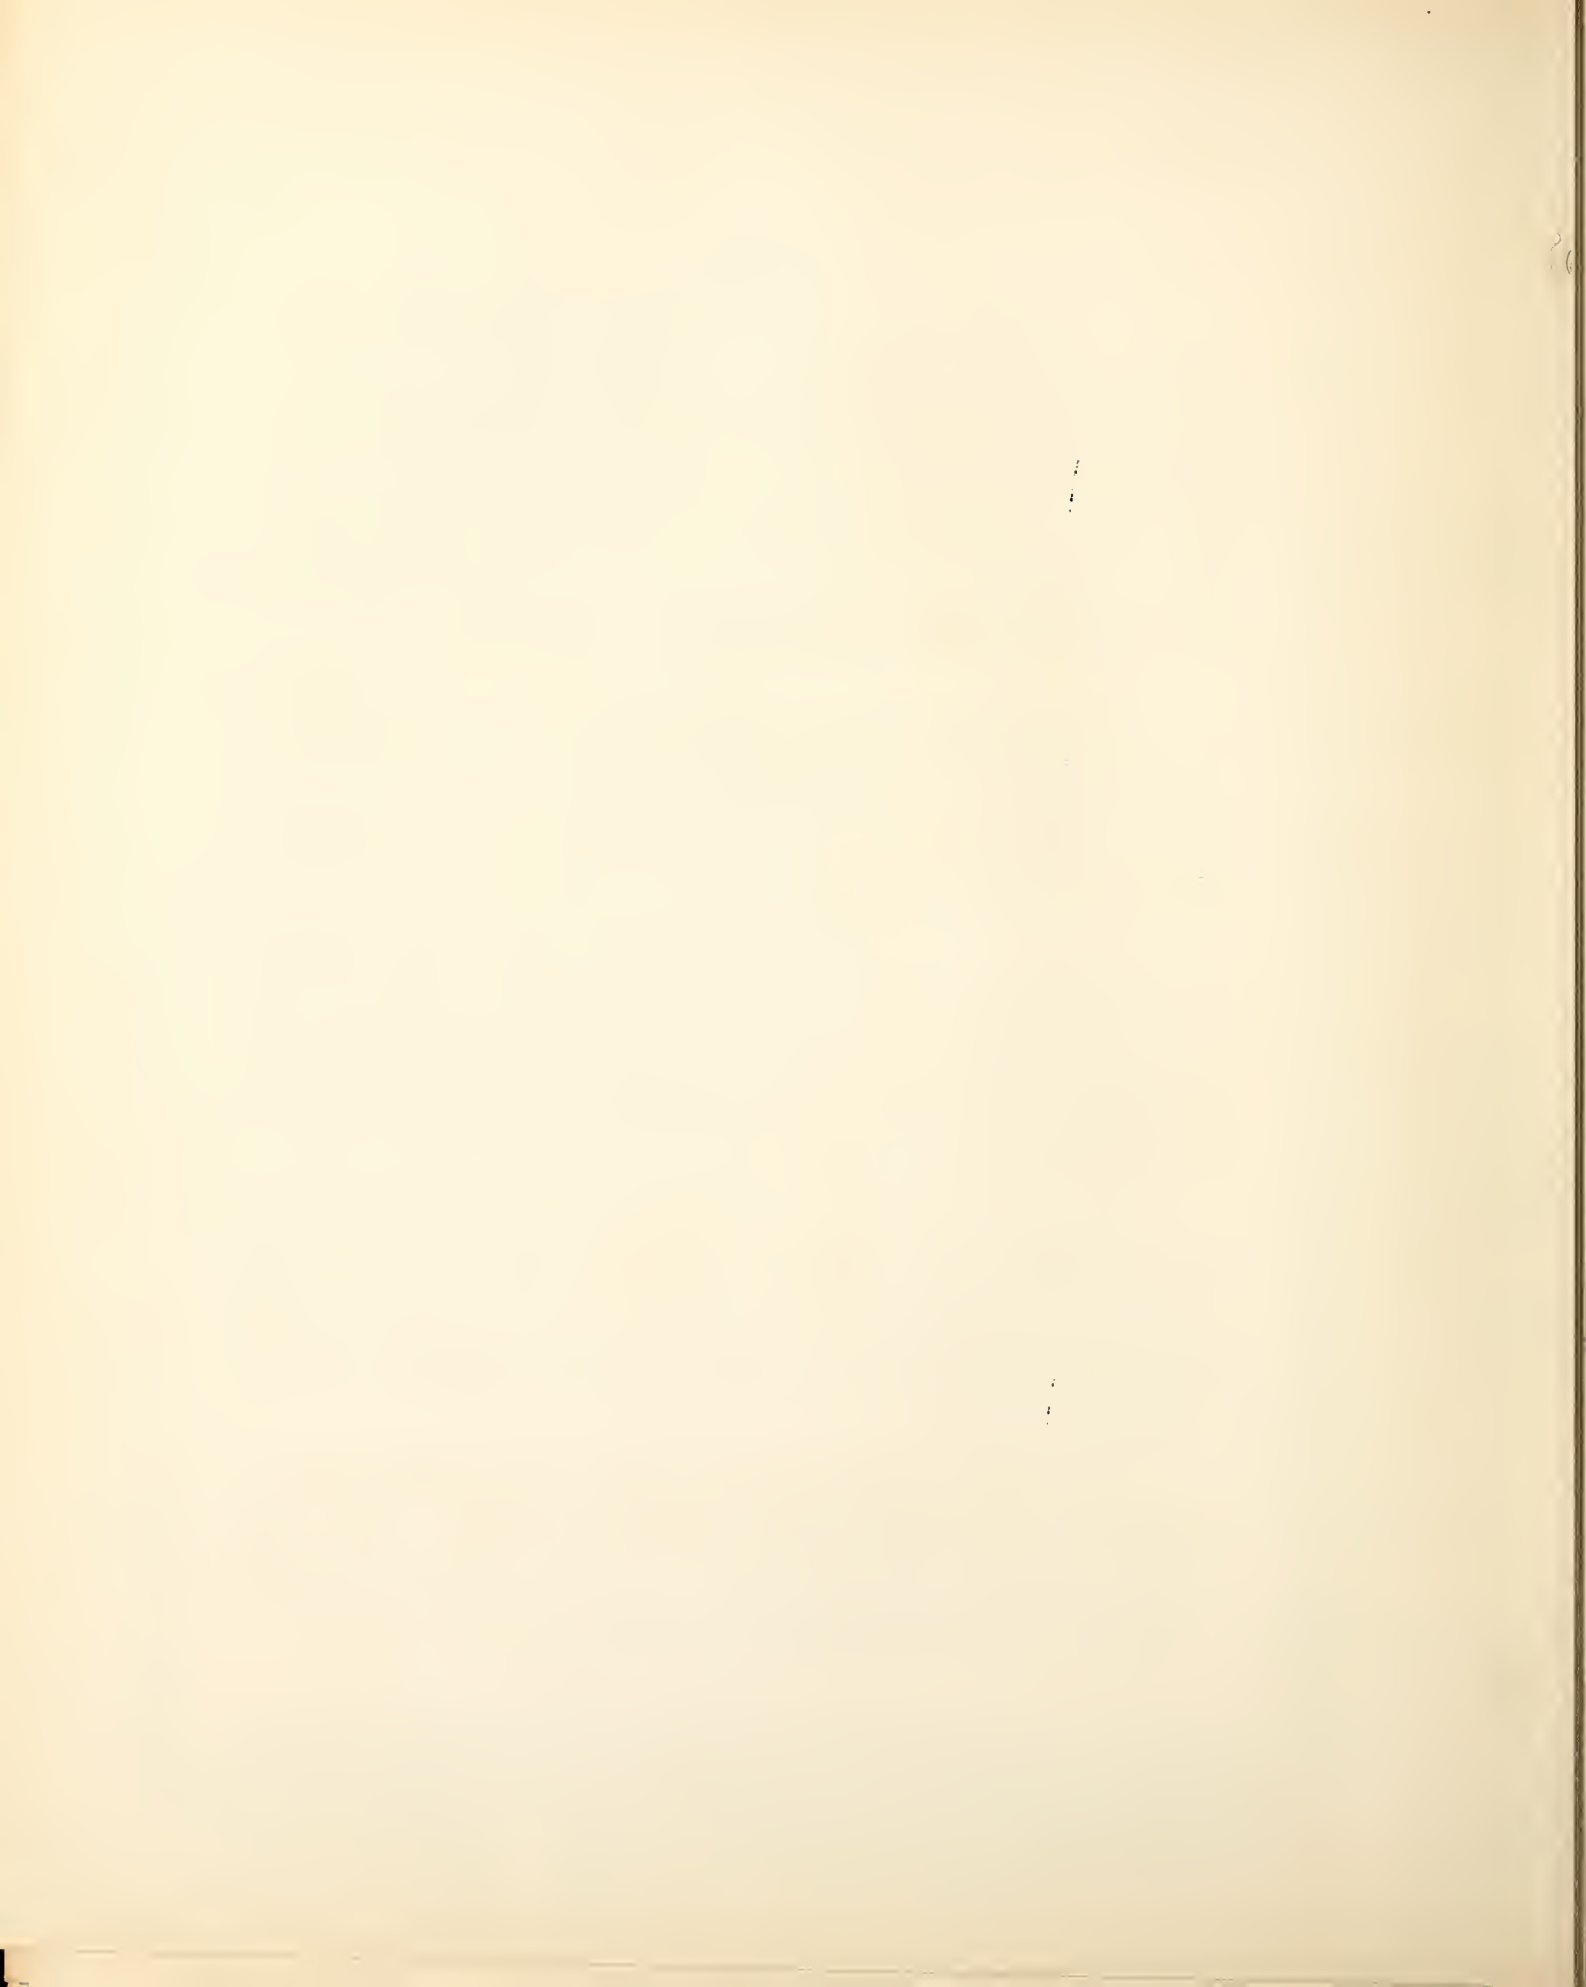

The Baptists of the Russell Creek Association for a number of years prior to the erection of the buildings of the Russell Creek Academy, realized that they needed to give their children something a state could not give --- a Christian education. They wanted a school where the Bible would be taught daily. This sentiment became so great that in 1900 at the Association at Salem, a committee was appointed to raise funds to build a school, but nothing was accomplished until 1906 when the work was begun on the first building. The first school began in September 1907, with Professor W. G. Welbourn as Principal.

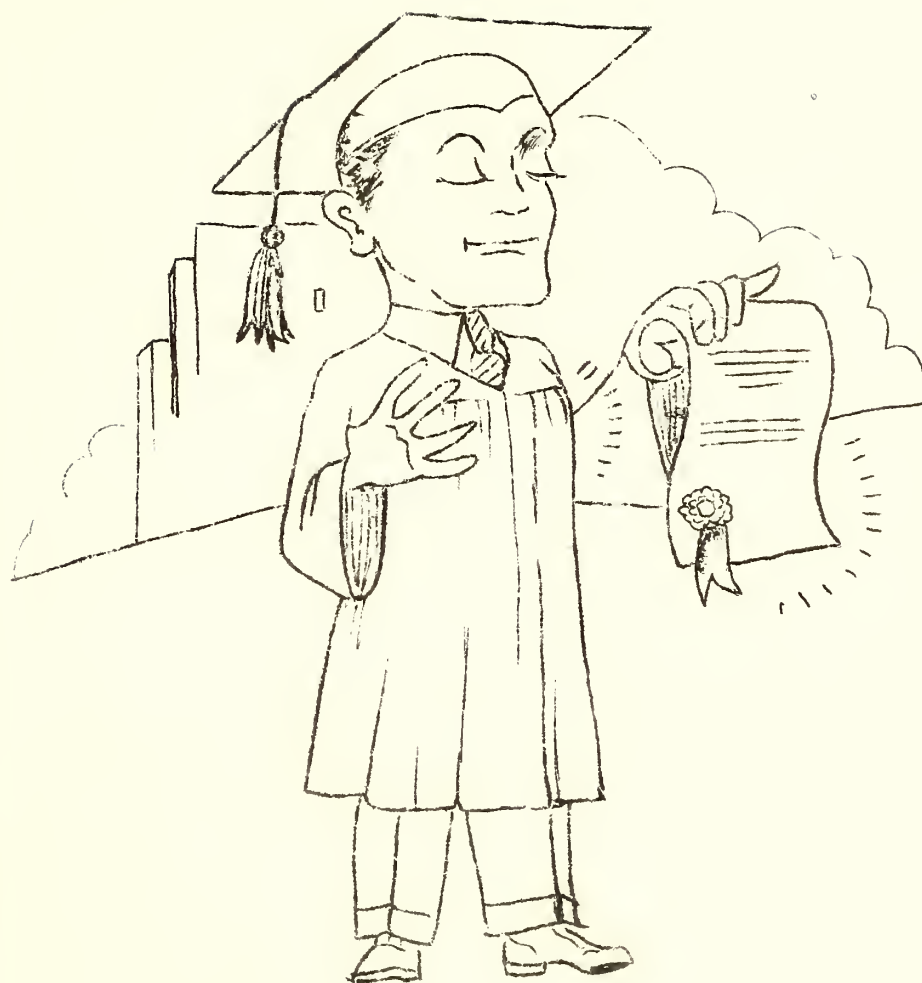

At a meeting of the General Association of Kentucky Baptists in Covington in November 1923, authority was given the trustees to raise Russell Creek Academy to the rank of junior college. As a result of this action the legal requirements for changing the corporate name were met and Russell Creek Academy became Campbellsville College which opened its doors as such in 1924.

In April 1927 the college became an accredited institution by the University of Kentucky and has continued to maintain that affiliation. In 1933 the college was admitted to membership in the Kentucky Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools which was organized in that year. It has for several years held membership in the American Association of Junior Colleges.

On April 14, 1939 fire of undetermined origin destroyed the administration building and all contents including science laboratories and library. The Board of Trustees immediately provided for construction of a new administration building, and the present building was completed in January 1940, less than a year after the destruction of the old one.

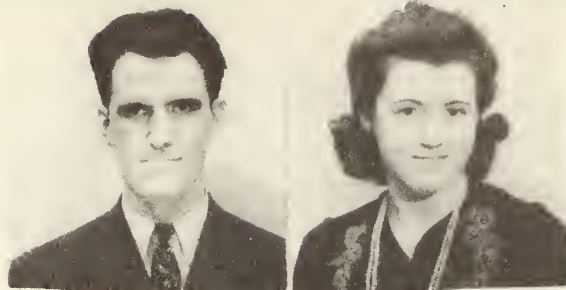

The library which was totally destroyed by the fire contained about 5,000 volumes. Through the generosity of friends, publishing houses, and colleges, these were replaced within a year and since that time additional books have been donated and purchased until at present there are approximately 7,500 properly catalogued volumes.

CLASS WILL

Being somewhat sound in body and mind, we, the Class of '42, do hereby bestow, bequeath, and let go, this--day of May, 1942, the following valuables to the persons herein mentioned in this our last will and testament. After consideration of the utmost care and study of the most diligent nature, we do hereby declare the following items to be on record as illegal and injudicious.

Regretfully we pass the Sophomore privileges to the less fortunate Freshmen and hope they will deeply appreciate the many advantages made possible by their capable superiors. We've never found out what these privileges are but we hope you will. Don't try some of our past dormitory tricks--P. S. They aren't privileges.

BECKY LONG wishes to will her graceful Mae West curves to Jewell Gilmore. If "Judy" ever has any, she will have to inherit them.

PAULINE RANDOLPH wishes to will her way with Mr. Doyle to Beulah Pinkston.

DOROTHY BROWN gives the following data for getting and holding your man--woo him--Dogpatch style.

DAN THOMAS wills his controlling desire to rule and reign the girls' dormitory to H. D. Rightmyer. Take them two at a time, H. D., and you'll get around almost as fast as Dan did.

ORBIN MONTGOMERY wills his ability to shun women to Charles Cloyd.

ETHEL PARROTT gives her winning ways with men to Mac Lobb.

TOMMY WORTHAM bequeaths his "do and are" spirit to Ross Martin.

THELMA MAUK wishes to bestow upon Mildred Shuffett her ability to talk back to Mr. Doyle and get by with it.

MARGIE MORRISON bequeaths her hunger for knowledge to the teachers so that they may "dole it out" to Freshmen next year (Poor Freshmen!).

ALLINE WILLIAMS and VIRGINIA SHEPHERD leave their abilities to "sling hash" to next year's dining room workers.

FARRIS LEIGH bequeaths his privilege of frequent entrance to the girls' dormitory to Kenneth Hadley who wouldn't be able to imagine what it's like.

MINA BURRESS, ELIZABETH COX, MATTIE HUMPHRES, and LYLA HUNT bequeath their teaching desire to all of the students in Miss Stivender's classes so that the going will be easier.

JOHN GARNER bequeaths his ability as drum major to the band for inspiration.

ROBERTA LEE HALE, VIVIAN PURDOM, and MAELEEN MERRITT bequeath the list of dormitory rules to their Freshman friends. May they read at least the first three dozen rules.

VIRGINIA DAVIS wills her quaint ways to all would-be "Old Maids".

WALLACE DAVIDSON and CHARLES BURD leave the "Barn" in one piece so that newcomers may enjoy the stalls, ALICE EDRINGTON bequeaths her headaches and worries derived from annual staff complaints to future editors of Campbellsville College Annual.

SAMUEL HARDEN bequeaths his ways with the teachers to Jimmy Graves, who may need them if love dulls his mind.

LOUISE JONES wills her knowledge of first grade teaching to Miss Kearnes in return for an A.

ARTA BROOKS LARGE and EDITH JOHNSON leave their room across the campus to other bachelor-girls (burnt pans thrown in free).

ROY DALTON wills some of his ample black locks to Mr. Doyle who may be able to use them.

DORIS JONES' musical ability and dimple go to Mazie Combs.

FLASH WILLIAMS leaves his athletic ability with the coach to "deal out" to the squad next year as he sees fit.

CLARA STARK and TOMMY FANN leave their royal personalities to future May Queens and Kings.

EVELYN CROOKE gives her winning smile and personality to all Freshmen whose IQ's are below sea-level.

JACK BRYANT and MOLLIE POPPLEWELL; HENRY FRENCH and EVELYN STRATTON give to next year's young hopefuls the campus so that they, too, may enjoy campusology.

EVERETTE LEE wills just enough of the spirit of his good looks to the girls who will never forget him.

MARY DAVENPORT and MARTHA SHIRLEY will their literary (?) temperament to next year's literary editor of the annual.

MILDRED WILSON and HELEN SAPP bequeath their quiet ways to Mary Jeffries as a soothing after-tonic for pranks.

REE SCOTT and DEAN GRAHAM will a bit of the platinum of their tresses to future "dish-water" blondes who may occupy seats in Campbellsville College.

REGANIA POLLEY leaves the highest notes of her melodious voice to Miss Adkins in case she is short of potential metropolitan stars -- next year.

ANITA BAKER wills the quality of her voice to Miss Honchell, who may be hoarse by next year.

ALMER RICHARDS bequeaths his undying devotion to Juanita Davis; while PAUL RICHARDS gives a little of his love to Edna Barr Krahwinkel -- the rest he saves in case of emergency.

BURDETTE HARMON bequeaths his most gracious thanks to Campbellsville College for supplying such as Dorothy Brown.

LORA BOLT, NELLIE BOLT, and VIRGINIA CAMPBELL leave a little fiery spirit of their red hair to light a spark of enthusiasm on the campus.

MARGARET BURRESS PAYNE and MARTHA ALICE FINN have the sparkle of their diamonds to encourage all "soldier" fans.

RUTH SASSER bequeaths her knowledge to her twin "sis" so that she, too, will eventually graduate.

MARY GODBEY and VIRGIE SHEARER will their recipe for biscuits to all future biscuit makers. May they never use it.

PAULINE BRADLEY and MAXINE BUIS leave their appendectomy experiences with Helen Bell for "rainy day" discussion topics.

DILLARD BOLT leaves a bit of his noisiness in the library so the mice will feel at home.

LAGATHA JENKINS leaves a bit of her quietness in the library so that students can study.

PAULINE CURRY and LUCILLE SLINKER bequeath some of their affection for athletic stars to next year's ball players so that they will win some of the games.

JAMES HUDDLESTON leaves his ghost in the library with the law books for it wouldn't be the same without him.

MARIE LEWIS and AGNES MONEY will to young ladies the encouragement that it pays to sport a diploma.

NAOMI HENDERSON bestows upon interested females an inkling of first aid (it takes years and years to be a doctor!).

HOUSTON SMITH leaves his memory to Hattie McCubbin so that C. C. will have that romantic touch for her.

WANLESS HANN leaves his name in the hall of fame to remind males what they are. (And it isn't a MOUSE).

EDITH WOODRUM and ROBY PERRY promise to think only the best of the college which gave them each other.

LOUELLEN GARDNER and VIOLA STATHAM leave their majorette ability with Beronice Williams so that she will be thrice accomplished.

LOUISE and LUCILLE SHEPERSON leave a "twin" wish that newcomers won't ever be as homesick as they were.

RODFORD McDONALD, RUDOLPH SUTTON, and RICHARD RAMSEY, as future preachers, leave their philosophy of life with Mr. Higdon so that he will always have something to talk about.

MRS. MABEL FELTS and MRS. MARY LIVELY leave advice to all that even though you're married there's room for improvement through education.

MILDRED AKIN and ALICE GARDNER bequeath gladly a few pounds to be distributed next year to those who need it most.

HATTIE MCCUBBIN, MALCOLM WRIGHT, and LESTER WILLIAMS bestow their student teaching ratings upon those less fortunate student teachers of '43.

OPAL OSBORNE gives her typing ability to Edna Barr Krahwinkel so that she will please the college officials next year.

HARDIE WARREN bequeaths her beauty to soothe next year's "Sadie Hawkins".

JEAN HUDDLESTON bestows upon Luvian Whitis her giggles
so that Luvian may be happy, too.

EMMA MAE STRATTON bequeaths the memory of her companionship to Housan Gray so that he may eventually be able to look at a female without blushing.

VELMA ZACHARY and GEORGE RAY GADDIE bequeath their table in the library to those who have good intentions.

A VIEW OF THE CAMPUS

SPORTS

BASKETBALL SEASON

When we look back over the records of this year's basketball season, we find that we have not won as many games as we had hoped to win.

The team this year took part in eighteen conference games but failed to win any of them. Of the games scheduled with Independent teams and Senior College Freshman teams, we were able to win over Greensburg Independents, and Center College Freshmen.

Failure to win more games was not due to the fact that our team was not well coached, neither was it due to the boys not playing with a determination to win. The chief handicap facing the team was their small size in comparison with members of other teams which they met at every Junior College in the state.

The boys showed the best sportsmanship and spirit possible in the face of continuous defeat. Many times in the dressing rooms before games, members of the team could be heard discussing the margin of probable defeat. This talking and joking would end, however, at the first call from the officials notifying them that they were due on the playing floor in a few minutes. They would seat themselves and listen earnestly to the few last minute suggestions offered by Coach Doyle. After this, the boys would move out on the floor and play with determination.

Our opponents often commented on the sportsmanship and spirit of fair play exhibited by our team.

Next year when the basketball season opens there will be six of this year's regular players to answer the call. We were very fortunate in that we did not lose our coach to the Navy until after the close of the basketball season.

At the annual basketball banquet, sweaters were awarded to the following Sophomores: Tommy Wortham, Henry French, Almer Richards, and Paul Williams. Other squad members who received letters were: Forest Shely, Charles Burd, Jack Bryant, William Shuffett, Edward Payne, W. R. Beard, and James Berry.

We sincerely hope that the team next year will be able to establish a better record for games won than that of this year's team.
